Networking is something which has been seen in many projects as a strong point to continuing while practical cannot happen.

Quality of experience, localism: local food, tradition and real people living there offering the experience

Talent: volunteers! become part of a movement

Creating space to think

Open discussion that allows all voices to be heard

Having culture and nature together to experience

Design new language, as: visitor -> guest, or traveler

Involve the community! Working together

We all need to own the vision. We need to all have had our say.

Need a good leader

Ask the entrepreneurs to promote in their media

More creative in this period

Create the opportunity for collaboration

Collaboration can not be forced, but we do need to work hard for this.

Making project more visible: use celebrities, influential persons

Networks: good host, somebody who is famous: star power!

Create opportunity for involvement. Encourage those that may not have confidence.

Positivity

First people engaged often have original ideas and need to be encouraged. They set an example and bring on more people to be involved

Community involvement, people feel they invest in the project and benefit the community support towards any creative ideas and proposals and put it to the practice

Empowering the local community (bottom-up strategy)

NETWORKS & PARTNERSHIPS

creativity in these times is something which is the difference between success and closures

New initiatives have popped up now to create a solution to problems but will remain in place going forward.

The community and the government became more flexible due to COVID

Practical projects-quick response

Opportunity to take time, now that people have time, to reflect

Communication as a key for the transition

Bench project in Sint Laureins created the possibility for visitors and local entrepreneurs to connect

A network which have been established is strong enough to continue while we have had to pause workshops and sharing of crafts

Private investment in our own businesses is important as new areas such as social distancing was not present before.

Team work, innovation and motivation important more than ever and has changed the vision for the better.

Being listened to, people can manifest their ideas, they see 'their' projects immediately!

Pride SHARE THE SUCCES

Encouragement and positivity
